

Title: Zoom/Online Immanuel Approach Ministry for InterVarsity

November 12, 2023

Greetings all,

Just wanted to send a quick note to share some bad news (small) and good news (big) regarding zoom/online sessions for InterVarsity.

The bad news: After much consideration, Peter and his supervisor have decided not to offer zoom/online Immanuel Approach ministry for staff at the Orlando 2024 Staff Conference. They realized that the practical logistics of trying to run twenty to thirty simultaneous zoom sessions, that would have to change to new recipients each hour, was just more than we can manage.

The good news: We are trying to put together a plan so that volunteers from the Immanuel Approach community can provide zoom/online Immanuel Prayer sessions for staff after the conference. One component would be follow-up for staff who felt like they wanted to continue with something important and good that got started (but not finished) in the Immanuel session at the conference. A second component would be to offer sessions for staff who wanted Immanuel ministry at the conference, but were not able to get a spot. And a third component would be to offer consultation sessions for staff that are starting to use the Immanuel Approach with students and other staff, and who might want an occasional consultation session with an experienced facilitator.

My assessment is that the third component will be especially valuable, in that many beginners are much more willing to jump in and get started if they know that they can get occasional consultation sessions when they hit bumps.

We would appreciate prayer for this new adventure, and I will keep you posted regarding details as this new plan moves forward.

Blessings,

Dr. Lehman/Karl
