

Title: Outsmarting Yourself Website

July 28, 2011

Greetings all,

Just a quick note to let you know that the website for the new book (Outsmarting Yourself) is now up. www.outsmartingyourself.com

This new website provides lots of information about the book, for those who are trying to decide whether to get a copy, and also provides additional resources for people who are already reading it (for example, easy access to supplementary essays and DVDs mentioned in the book and a very nice summary of key concepts). Note also that the FAQs section on the website includes answers to several additional questions that are not addressed in the corresponding section of the book, and that the endorsements section on the website includes a number of endorsements not included in the book.

Blessings,

Dr. Lehman/Karl
