

Title: "My Journey to the Immanuel Approach -- Video"

October 24, 2022

Greetings all,

Just a quick note to let you know about a new resource. I just posted one of the presentations I did for the May 2022 seminar at Lipscomb University. This presentation tells the story of my journey to the Immanuel Approach.

One way to introduce the Immanuel Approach is to explain the process, describe the brain science and biblical principles that support the process, and discuss the components of the Immanuel Approach that are new/different/unique. The essay I posted a few months ago provides this kind of introduction. (<https://www.immanuelapproach.com/wp-content/uploads/2021/04/IAIntroductionThirdVar.pdf>)

Another way to introduce the Immanuel Approach is to tell the story of how it was developed. Our brains process and store stories differently than logical explanations, and most people find that stories are easier to remember. Also, I find that the story of how and why something was developed often gives me a deeper understanding of why each piece is important, a clearer picture of how they fit together, and more appreciation for the new pieces. Hopefully, this story of my personal journey with respect to the Immanuel Approach will provide all of these benefits. (For those of you who are familiar with the big lion book, this presentation is essentially a condensed, video version of Chapter 3.)
